

Instagram & Facebook:
@kimkushnermusic

KimKushnerMusic.com

KIM KUSHNER

Kim Kushner is a testament to the power of perseverance and resilience. Her first guitar was a gift from her dad in high school and she dabbled in singing and songwriting in college, yet her focus was elsewhere. After dedicating decades to raising three wonderful sons and being a devoted full-time mom, Kim decided it was time to chase her own aspirations. At the age of 61, she rekindled her passion for songwriting and guitar playing, making her first public appearance at a St. Petersburg Car Show and has culminated in the release of her three albums, "Late Bloomer," “Don’t Wait Until Tomorrow” and “Twelve Yellow Roses.” Kim says it's never too late to pursue your dreams. Her music embodies the essence of folksy storytelling, delivering feel-good tunes that resonate with audiences on a deep, relatable level while also provoking thought and introspection.

With a voice imbued with sweetness and a knack for telling a great story, Kim captivates listeners with her engaging personality and outgoing demeanor. Her guiding principles echo through her music and life philosophy: never settle, follow your dreams, and embrace the journey with steadfast determination. Kim's mission extends beyond her own success; she aims to inspire others to believe in themselves, teaching younger generations the importance of self-confidence and resilience. Through her music and her unwavering spirit, Kim Kushner serves as an inspiration for anyone who dares to pursue their passions, regardless of age or circumstance.